LEETONIA, ALMA MATER

Oh Leetonia, Alma Mater
We thy sons give praise to thee
For the honor, love and glory
Thou bestowed on such as we.
Though the roads of life are long
Thy care has made us strong,
Though trials shall come nigh
We'll raise thy banner high.
Oh Leetonia, throughout all our lives
Thy commandments shall abide,
And thy colors flying in the sky
Fill our hearts with pride.

FOREWORD

The Class of 1959 takes pleasure in presenting this year's Leehiscan, "School Daze". We have tried to present the events of the school year as they happened. We hope you enjoy reading this annual as much as we have enjoyed preparing it for you.

We of the annual staff would like to thank Miss Wilhelm, our adviser, for all the time and effort she has put into this yearbook to help make it the success we would like it to be.

As you read this book we sincerely hope you appreciate it.

DEDICATION

Mr. Karl Meinhardt

Mr. Meinhardt came to Leetonia High School in 1953. For six years he has worked hard to produce bands of which the school and community would be proud. One of his aims was realized when the band received the highest or Superior rating in the State Contest. This year, Mr. Meinhardt and the band were honored by being asked to contribute to The First Chair of America book.

Mr. Meinhardt has always been willing to help us and has contributed greatly to the success of many events. The Senior Classes have always been grateful to him for his help in the graduation ceremony.

For these and many other reasons, the Senior Class of 1959 dedicates this annual to Mr. Meinhardt. He will long be remembered by all of us.

CLASS POEM

IN OUR LEETONIA HIGH SCHOOL

As we look down the long silent halls
We think of all our mistakes and falls.
But the class, we feel, that will stand out the most
The class of '59, of which we're proud to boast.

Though our class is full of fun,
We realize too, the jobs to be done.
We'll forge ahead and do our best
Yes, We'll rank high along with the rest.

We remember all the friends we've known
For they've helped form our cornerstone.
We remember, too, how our time was given
Toward our futures for which we've striven,

And as we dream of the days gone by
We realize now why the alumni sigh.
For as we leave, our adulthoods near
We know we've spent our best 12 years
– In Our Leetonia High School.

Gayle Garwood

CLASS SONG

Tune: It's All In The Game.

Many a tear has to fall
    As we all say goodbye
To all the wonderful days at Leetonia High.
We leave days of joy and sorrow that we know,
    But we thinks our hearts can rise above.
Once-in-awhile we will thinks of the days gone by,
    All of the wonderful days at Leetonia High.
As our days are few and our memories linger through
    Then we'll all bid you adieu.

CLASS PROPHECY

It's 1979 and the biggest news event of the century is happening at this time. At this very moment we're at the L. H. S. Space Port awaiting the arrival of the President and Vice President.

As we look around we see the great D. C. T. news reporter, Tom Fraser, and his photographer, Gary Bush, interviewing the co-managers of this space port, Jerry Gabriel and Alice Mathey. Meanwhile on the other side of the building we find another reporter from the C.O.F. television network. Janice Shinn, interviewing the crew of the Frontiersman. She's talking to the pilot, Ernie Baker; behind them in a small group is the rest of the crew: Don Lodge is the co-pilot and the navigator, who will guide them through the stars, is Mervin Bartholow; the nurse and radio operator—Nancy Altomare and Ralph Quinn—are drinking super-sonic cokes.

At gate number 50, the designer, Judy Osterling, and the electrical engineer, Raymond Pyles, are viewing their masterpiece with pride.

There is a rustle in the crowd as the President's personal policeman, David Hosack, is clearing the way for the President James Lydon and the Vice President, Linda Farrington. Meanwhile two of our policewomen, Sandra Volpe and Sue Katin, have caught a suspicious looking character sneaking through the crowd, but it turned out to be a plainclothesman, Allen Franklin.

Now for the big moment: the saucer is ready for take-off. John Gibson is just finishing the count down—3-2-1. BLAST OFF! The first Earth President to visit the moon is on his way.

While at Uranus, the Vice President and the other women passengers decided to see a fashion show at the noted dress shoppe owned by Delores Baker and Kaye Corna. The clothes in the show were designed by Kathryn Bailey and Carol Falzetta. Modeling the creations were Jane Fife and Antionette Girard. While preparing to leave we noticed the fashion editor for the Uranus Herald, Mary Ellen Lipp

On our next stop we saw King Neptune, John Ferry, with the Queen, Janet Sadler. At the window we noticed the Princess, Kay Ann Senior, waiting for her Prince Charming.

Nearing the planet Pluto, we noticed Joseph Gbur, a famous spaceship racer, and Lawrence Heberling, an outstanding interplanetary motorcyclist, getting ready to race to the Sun. They were trying to decide which was the faster. As they start off we finally land on the planet Pluto.

We now are on the last planet, Pluto, where we soon learned that Ruth King has a famous dog act which was trained by Wilbur Jones. Nearby we noticed Coach Eugene Leffler coaching his interplanetary football team, which has won many trophies because of the skill of their great quarterback, Charles Lippiatt.

Speeding back to the Moon, we see Richard Prior, the interplanetary motorcycle policeman. He is searching for James Grove, a famous detective lost on a Moon Satellite.

On another satellite we noticed a big sign reading, "Smith Sisters' Syrup for Cough," and we were told that Peggy and Ruth Smith were the owners with Joyce Roessler as their sampler.

On our way we stop at the Milky Way where we get milk from Thomas Rudebock who owns a dairy farm. The cook, Louise Kiliany, will use it for preparing the meal.

For the after-dinner entertainment we have the famous vocalist, Nova Jean Edgerton, and her equally famous accompanist, Miriam Davis.

In the meantime we have decided to take a tour of all the planets as we are ahead of schedule. Our first stop will be on the Sun where Sandra Boston and Pat Bean are busy making Boston Baked Beans. On our way from the Sun to Mercury, where we find David Gorman making thermometers, we are being entertained by the great comedy team, Mutt and Jeff, played by Jay Haney and John Fast.

Our next stop is Venus, where we will visit the famous "G. & S" Modeling Agency owned by Warren Gullett and James Smith. While we're there we get to meet their well-known models, Marie Perry and Marlene Miller.

The next stop is on Mars where we get fresh fruit for a snack from Joseph Less and Barbara Kalafus who own large orchards. Getting ready to leave we noticed Joyce Newton. She was the owner of a well established cookie factory, making Fig Newtons.

At our next stop, Jupiter, we go to the Metropolitan Opera, which is owned by Alice Bower, to see the famous opera singer, Janet Miller, accompanied by Hazel Bartholow, singing Gayle Garwood's latest opera.

Saturn is our next destination. We plan to visit the universally famous jewelry store of Lyn Altomare where they make rings from star dust.

At last arriving at the Moon, we were greeted by the Moon's President and Vice President, Jerry McCowin and Joyce Morris. They took us on a sightseeing tour of the Moon which included a stop at the main studio of W. F. H. A. TV. Operating the cameras for Terri Reese's Sports' Review was George Martin. As we were talking to Kenneth Mathey, the owner of the television station, we saw Judy McCormick giving a commercial. When Thomas Haschen, accompanied by his body guard, Robert Osterling, gave us a personal invitation to his new night club, we accepted. At the night club we saw Jean Oliver and Donna Stecker, who were dancers, and James Ashman was our waiter.

But the star performer was Miss Wilhelm doing the Hula Hoop. And this ends our wonderful journey.

The Leetonia Bears of 1958 were a light but powerful team. They showed great fighting spirit and also a great ambition to win. This shows in the fact that they were never held scoreless.

Under the able coaching of Pat Mancuso, Virgil Roman, and Len Batcha, the boys had a fairly successful season; they won four, tied one, and lost four.

Several of our team received All-State and Tri-County honors. Robert Osterling was chosen first string fullback on both All-State and Tri-County teams. Joseph Sevenich received honorable mention on the All-State team and second string tackle on the Tri-County team. James Grove and Joseph Less received honorable mention on the Tri-County team.

The Leetonia High School Band is considered to be one of the finest bands for schools its size in Northeastern Ohio.

The Marching band presents fine half-time entertainment at eight football games. Emphasis is placed on precision marching. A "Pep Band" performs at basketball games.

The band combines with the choruses for the traditional Christmas program. The Annual Spring Concert highlights the band's activities for the year.

The band also participates in many community activities such as Homecoming, Memorial Day and Halloween Parades, the County Fair, and P. T. A. programs. Small ensembles and soloists are in demand for many church and service club functions.

During Mr. Meinhardt's six years as instrumental supervisor the department has grown from a nineteen member to a well equipped and balanced sixty piece band with a feeder band of sixty members. The band's contest record has consisted of three superior and one excellent rating in district and state contests. The band's growth and recognition have resulted in the building of a new and spacious music room.

This year the band was honored to be chosen to appear in the "First Chairs of America", a book which recognizes the better high school bands from all over the country.

Leetonia is indeed proud of their fine band.

JUNIOR PLAY—CLASS OF 1959

On November 22, 1957, the Class of 1959 had its first taste of the theater. "January Thaw" was presented as the Junior Class Play.

The Gage family seek peace in an old farmhouse. There, Mother remodels coffeegrinders into lamps, while Father tries to write a "best-seller" novel in a blitz of interruptions instead of that country quiet he sought. In the blitz, he ignores the arrival of Jonathan and Mathilda, who have the right to live in the Gage home. No one had worried about that clause in the deed, since the Rockwoods were supposed to be dead. A contest for possession begins, with neither able to turn the other out. Jonathan plans to hold a funeral of an old acquaintance in the house. Barbara's boy-friend doesn't appear at the right time and Barbara and the Rockwoods' son go out on an errand of mercy when a blizzard clamps down. The Gages and the Rockwoods are isolated. The electric lines fail and the oil-burner and the range won't work. Mother forgot to shop for food anyway! In the freezing house, while the Gages breakfast on what's left—cornflakes, molasses, and olives!—from the rooms of the unmodern Rockwoods come gusts of warmth from their woodburner, and the smell of coffee and frying ham. The Gages rally around Father and his cornflakes and olives, until they smell the Rockwoods' fresh biscuits! Then they desert Father—and it even looks as if Barbara had eloped with the Rockwoods' son. It looks like complete disaster. But in the delightful ending, all is happily and intelligently solved.

The cast, under the direction of R. Richard Banker, included the following:

Frieda	Janet Miller
Herbert Gage	Thomas Fraser
Sarah Gage	Terri Reese
Paula Gage	Sandra Volpe
Marge Gage	Gayle Garwood
Barbara Gage	Mary Ellen Lipp
George Husted	Jerry McCowin
Jonathan Rockwood	Jay Haney
Mathilda Rockwood	Linda Farrington

Matt Rockwood	Lawerence Heberling

Constable	John Ferry

JUNIOR PLAY—CLASS OF 1960

The Class of 1960 presented their Junior Class Play on November 14-15, 1958. The presentation, called "Yes and No", was under the direction of R. Richard Banker.

When Adrian Marsh phoned the Jarrow household to ask if he could call upon the daughter of the family, it caused a near panic in the mind of Jo Jarrow, thinking that he might propose to her. Jo imagines what would happen if she should accept the proposal. Thoughts of what would happen if she says "no" also run through her mind. In making her decision, she must conslder her sister, Sally, and her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Jarrow. In the end her many worries seemed unnecessary since she was not meant to be the recipient of Adrian's proposal.

The cast included:

Mrs. Webb	Judy Dustman
Rev. Richard Jarraw	Ronald Wilhelm
Emma Jarrow	Judy Rance
Sally Jarrow	Jacqueline Stouffer
Jo Jarrow	Sandra Childs
Rev. Bagshott	Arnold Dickey
Adrian Marsh	Glenn Spencer

The Future Homemakers of America is a national organization composed of girls in senior high school who have completed at least one year of Home Economics. It offers further development of pupil initiative in planning and carrying out activities related to homemaking.

The colors are red, symbolic of youth, and white, symbolic of innocence and purity. The flower is the red rose, symbolic of vibrant, glowing health which contributes to happiness and efficiency in home life. The motto is "Toward New Horizons". It expresses the purpose of the organization — to live better today in order that we and our families will be better tomorrow.

Some things the girls have done this year are: a Mother-Daughter Banquet, a Sweetheart Prom, a Family Christmas Caroling, and Daddy-Date Night.

The officers for 1958-1959 are:

President	Linda Conrad
Vice President	Joyce Linn
Secretary	Nancy Altomare
Treasurer	Terri Reese
News Reporter	Marlene Miller

THE SWEETHEART PROM

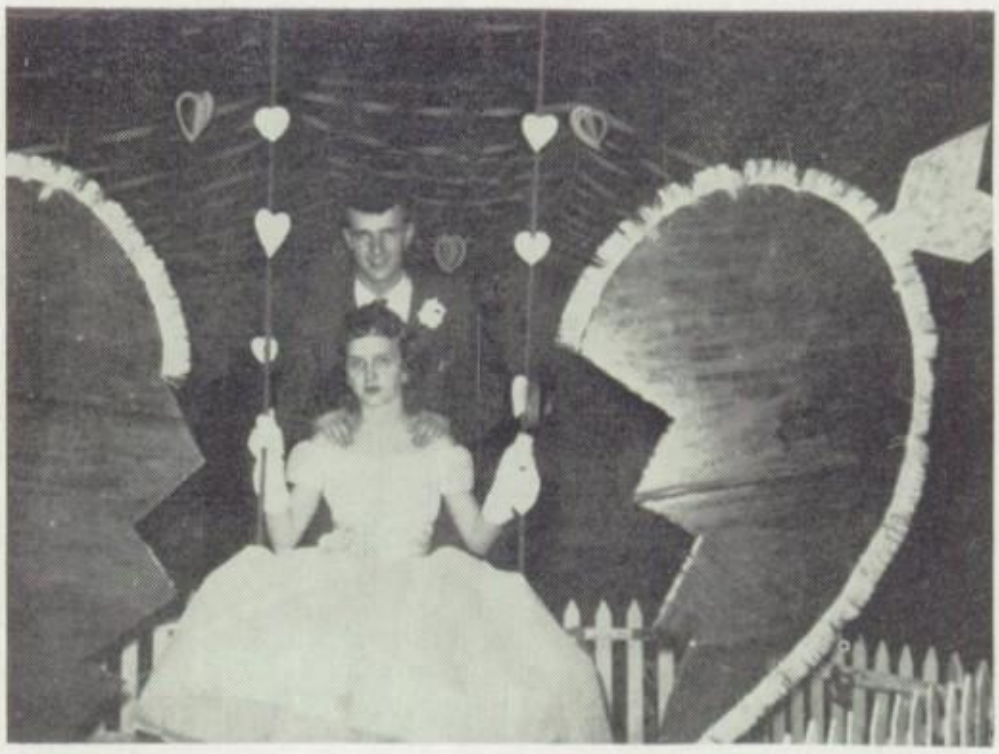
Marlene Miller and Charles Lippiatt.

The Future Homemakers of America held their Annual Sweetheart Prom on Valentine's Day, February 14, 1959. It lasted from 8:00 to 11:30 p. m. The theme which the gir.s chose for their affair was "Won't You Be My Valentine?" The members of the P. T. A. and Miss Huss, their advisor worked hard to put up the beautiful decorations which corresponded to the theme. A favorite spot was the red and white swing in the middle of the floor where many pictures were taken. The valentines, cupids, and white fence added a romantic atmosphere to the dance. The girls, their escorts, and guests all agreed that the time spent working beforehand was well rewarded, as the prom was a huge success.

The Disc Jockey for the dance was Mark Howard. He was assisted by Thomas Fraser. Mr. Howard can be heard on WFMJ radio every morning and every night on the Mumbles to Midnight show. He also makes frequent appearances on television.

Donna Vignon and James Gregory were winners of the slow dance contest. The jitterbug contest was won by Marie Perry and James Stelts. The two winning couples received records.

During intermission refreshments consisting of punch, cookies, and potato chips were served by some of the Junior High boys. The boys and the two girls checking coats wore costumes which matched the decorations.



After the intermission Marlene Miller and Charles Lippiatt were chosen as Cupid's Couple. They were presented with a box of candy and a record album. Everybody at the dance reported that they had a good time and will always remember it.

To Our Young Friends . . .

Youth faces the ever-changing problems of the years that are before them. The greatest weapon they can possess to meet succssfully those problems is a cultured mind, a pure heart, a body physically strong, a desire to work and a determination to practice thrift. Any cause which aims to that end is a most worthy cause and those who labor to accomplish that purpose should receive the commendation of every person who is worthy of citizenship. Keep your face to the sunshine and the shadows will fall behind.

Caution—Ever bear in mind education is a foundation for success only when applied with an unselfish spirit of determination to do the worth-while things of life.

To the Class of 1959 . . . In all sincerity we hope that you will have the courage to face your problems as you pass along the highway of life and happiness and success be always with you.
